Be the day sunny and bright or dark and dreary, be the registration line endlessly long or blessedly short, the little brass bars at the Bursar's window never cast any shadows across the friendly face which is always there to answer our needs.

So devoted is she to her job and to "her girls" that our choice for dedication of this yearbook is lovingly called "Miss Bursar" by the hundreds of us who sincerely admire, respect, and love her as both administrator and as friend.

To say "Thank you" in our own small, but truly meaningful way, to one who has made our four years happier because of her devotion to the making of a better Alabama College, we proudly dedicate this 1950-51 MONTAGE to Miss Mattie Lee.

Miss Mattie Lee

college. . .

Heading our distinguished "big four", are his Honor the Governor Gordon Persons, President John T. Caldwell, Dean T. H. Napier, and Mr. Raymond D. Fowler.

Competent, efficient, and understanding are all adjectives which can be used to describe our splendid faculty, working hand in hand with the administration and students to achieve scholarly development on our campus.

The Elite of Alabama College are the outstanding members of the Senior class whom the student body feels should be recognized for their accomplishment in specialized fields. One of the highest honors obtainable by an A. C. girl is that she be chosen among the Elite of her Senior class.

The PRESIDENT

Our President, Dr. John Tyler Caldwell, during his four years at Alabama College has won the friendship and respect of all the students as well as becoming a prominent figure in Alabama.

Characteristic of Dr. Caldwell is his enthusiastic and friendly attitude which is shown by his frequent invitations to students to visit his home on Flour Hill for both helpful advice and social gatherings.

Not only is Dr. Caldwell expanding Alabama College with new buildings and facilities but he is also helping to expand the students outlook on international affairs, thus causing them to become more world minded citizens.

The GOVERNOR

Our new Governor, Gordon C. Persons, is President of Alabama College Board of Trustees. Since coming into office the Governor has already displayed a wide interest in education at Alabama College.

GOVERNOR GORDON C. PERSONS

THE DEAN

The patience and understanding of Dean Napier have made him a person to whom students often go for advice. His wisdom and thoughtful consideration have proved him to be a Dean capable of meeting any situation. During his many years of service he has contributed to making Alabama College one of the outstanding Schools in the South.

DR. T. H. NAPIER
Dean of Alabama College

THE BUSINESS MANAGER

Accurately and efficiently, Mr. Fowler balances the budget, helps solve the financial headaches of student organizations and still has time left over to be an asset to college activities and undertakings with his keen interest and friendly good humor.

The ADMINIS

The administration are the people on the campus that coordinate the school and see that policies, rules and regulations are carried out. Their job is not an easy one, but each person works hard in his field to perform his specified duties, whatever they may be. Alabama College could not function as a unit unless each administrator worked together. Their ultimate goal always seems to give the best to the students and to the school.

Mr. Hamilton, Head of Public Relations, see that all publicity about the school and the students gets in the newspapers throughout the State. His big job is scheduling the Artist Lecture series as well as seeing about printing programs for all activities on the campus. His office is always busy sending out bulletins and letters as well as taking care of all the photography on the campus. Mr. Hamilton heads the Publication Board of the school.

Dr. Orr, Head of the Education Department, is also Director of Summer School each year, which takes a great deal of planning so that each girl can get in the courses that she needs.

Miss Eloise Lee, who is the Alumnae Secretary has a job keeping up with all the students after they leave Alabama College. Setting up the Homecoming programs, which take place College Night, is a big job but one that is always enjoyed by the Alumnae. If you ever want to know about where someone is after they leave Alabama College Miss Lee will know for she does correspondence all over the United States with our graduates.

TRATION . . .

Miss Jean Day, Dean of Residence, has a great deal of responsibility vested in her. She is always a person the girls can go to for advice. She has a major roll in carrying out the policies and regulations of the school as well as having the big job of seeing about room reservations for all students in school.

Dr. Peck, the school Physician, has been on the campus many years. Her medical knowledge and wisdom has proved to be very valuable. She is always willing to help any student or faculty when they have the slightest pain or ache.

Dr. Steckel is the Student Counselor. She heads up the Freshman orientation, makes job placements and is a friendly and understanding person to talk to if you ever have a problem.

Miss Virginia Hendrick, Registrar, performs a task of exact figuring and recording of date, grades and information for the school. She is always willing to check your grades for you or help out when you are in a mess over your courses.

Miss Mattie Lee, Bursar, handles all the school payments by the girls and all other money that flows through the students to the school. She is always there to cash a check for you or to handle the student banking.

Miss Abi Russell, Librarian, keeps the school library in the best reading material possible with new books coming out each week. The library is kept in exact order so that a student may find a book without anw trouble.

ART . . .

The art department of Alabama College has a high aim—one of providing a liberal education for all students on the campus through classwork, cooperation with other departments and campus organizations.

Specialized training is available to individuals interested in art education, interior design, costume design, commercial art, industrial design, and fine arts.

In addition, the art department serves the people of the state by its cooperation with art education work shops, art organizations, and civic organizations.

Biology Club Officers: HAMNER, McVAY, COTTEN

BIOLOGY . . .

The Biology department trains students for the jobs of laboratory and medical technicians. Students gain much practical experience in laboratories equipped with special facilities and supplies for biology, zoology, botany, histology, anatomy, physiology, with a special laboratory for pathogenic biology. There are frequent interesting field trips planned to various hospitals and laboratories located throughout the state . . . The department is so equipped and courses arranged as to give girls the opportunity to learn biological and scientific truths from the very basic factors to Einstein's theory!

Student Practice Teaching

EDUCATION

The Department of Education at Alabama College is continually striving to improve its program of teacher training. We operate on the philosophy that people learn best when they have a need for learning. In line with this philosophy, we are connecting as much as possible the theory of education with its practice. For a number of years we have, during the senior year, taught theory as it grew out of practice teaching in the Laboratory School. During the past year we have been able to connect more of the theory courses with practice and, consequently, believe our training program is more vital and significant because of these changes.

ROBERT PAYNE
Head of English Department

Robert Payne is a well known writer in the United States publishing one of the year's best sellers, Mao Tse Tung. He was named by the New York Times as "The most versatile writer of the year."

ENGLISH

The English Department is trying to put sense, excitement and imagination into the study of the furious energy of the English language. There are some fair results, and the student publication TOWER was proof that it had gone some way towards achieving its imaginative aim. Usually, it meant that nearly everything learned at high school had to be abandoned, but if freedom for the imagination could be established, the loss was gain. Meanwhile, the English Department worked on the assumption that students, because they were adolescents, were naturally geniuses, and hoped that the students would live up to their new names.

A number of new classes have been added to the curriculum by the English Department. Classes in creative writing and journalism have stimulated student interest in writing as a delightful and satisfying pastime.

To some Alabama College students, however, writing is coming to be more significant than just a pastime. Some students have worked as reporters for local newspapers in the summer and some have even undertaken to write novels for publication.

Faculty Members: COMPTON and DAVIS

SPEECH

In the curricula area of the speech department, classes are offered in speech education, radio, public speaking, discussion and debate, speech correction, interpretation and drama.

Students are trained in speech education for teaching in elementary, junior and senior high schools. Radio training affords a student the opportunity of becoming an announcer, a newscaster, program director; to write and produce radio programs; teach radio; handle special event broadcasts and do radio engineering.

In public speaking, discussion and debate courses, training is offered in argumentation, persuasion and parliamentary procedure.

The Alabama College speech clinic service is provided for students with speech disorders. Voice recordings are made and individual corrective programs are set up.

Training in interpretation, drama and theatre helps prepare a student to teach in high schools, to handle technical jobs in community and little theatre organizations. Classes are offered in acting, make-up, staging, lighting and directing.

As the culmination of four years in platform training, senior speech majors give recitals to put into practice their interpretative ability.

Home Economics has always had an important place at Alabama College. Vocational home economics education, institution economics, and retail economics are the three fields in home economics offered.

Alabama College was the first college in the state to offer instruction in home economics, is the only college in the state with a continuous record for teacher training in vocational home economics, established the first home management house, offers laboratory experience in department stores for retail majors, and offers practical training in the laboratory school, the school cafeteria, and the nursery school.

The Alpha Gamma Chapter of Omicorn Nu, national honorary society for home economics, was established at Alabama College in 1931. This is the only chapter in the state and the second in the South.

DR. LORRAINE PIERSON
Head, Foreign Language Department

Faculty: ELIZABETH STOCKTON and FRITZ COHEN

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The Foreign Language Department offers courses in both modern and classical languages. The aim of the department is one of introducing the student to the language, literature, and culture of the various civilizations studied.

From the Near East, the Far East, Hawaii, South America, Europe, and the Caribbean Islands, students come to Alabama College and help greatly in developing understanding of culture different from our own. These students contribute greatly to the World Culture series in that they add commentaries to movies and lectures that relate to their native country.

This year we have had students from eight foreign countries. The Y. W. C. A. in cooperation with the Foreign Language Department has set up scholarships to increase the number of foreign students on this campus.

Head of Mathematics Department

MATHEMATICS

The Department of Mathematics undertakes to give the fundamental training necessary to prepare students of mathematics to become teachers, or to enter those vocations for which mathematical training is necessary. Courses in mathematics are designed to further the goals of general education by affording training in precise, clear, and logical thinking, and by developing an appreciation of the nature of mathematics and its contributions to civilization.

A project of the Mathematics Department which arouses considerable interest on the campus is the math exhibit which is but on every other year. This exhibit shows the wide applications of mathematical principles to the physical, biological and social sciences, engineering, the arts, and other fields of learning. Students who attend the exhibit see the many recreational aspects of mathematics.

MUSIC

Under the guidance of an experienced faculty, music students are given the opportunity to explore all the different phases which are open to them as life careers.

Hours of practice, stage fright, endless patience—these are all a part of the routine of going through the music school curriculum.

There are, however, the highlighted events which gives the student of music an opportunity of facing an audience and knowing the satisfaction of giving to others a part of herself, through music; whether it be public performance or that of teaching others what she has learned.

After four years, the senior music major feels such admiration for her art that she, with the poet, can say,

"Thou wondrous art,
My thanks to thee forever."

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The five members of the staff and the fifty majors in the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, along with all other members of the campus community, are eagerly awaiting the date when the new indoor swimming pool will be available. Planned for summer and winter use, the pool will have sliding glass sides which will allow swimmers to go directly to the wide outdoor sun deck during warm weather.

Members of the Physical Education Club started the year with a Camphouse Party honoring the new majors. They were hostesses to many off campus guests at the Jose Limon dance concert on the campus on November ninth.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE

Many long hours are spent in the laboratories for those students majoring in Chemistry. In this department nearly every student gets a taste of Physical Science in a survey course in their Freshman year.

This department trains students for the teaching profession, laboratory technicians and medical technicians. Graduates have a basic background to go into hospitals all over the South and so their interning for laboratory technicians and medical technicians.

The laboratories of the Physical Science Department are located on third floor of Block Hall and occupy seven rooms in this building. A considerable amount of physical equipment has been added this year and there are plans to get even more.

PSYCHOLOGY

No need to try to keep your I.Q. a secret if any of your acquaintances are taking psychology; roommates give each other tests to learn everything from why you don't like spinach to your ability to say a series of nine numbers backwards! The serious student of psychology, when in a playful mood, decides to analyze her friends . . . . strange that she has no friends the next day!

Of invaluable aid to future teachers, social workers, and psychologists though, are courses offered in child psychology, adolescent, abnormal, and experimental psychology, criminology and testing. All of it is so interesting that we are not conscious of all the work it involves.

Under the able direction of Dr. Katherine Vickery, Dr. Minnie Steckel and Mr. Finis Poole, our psychology department is growing by leaps and bounds.

Head, Religious Education Department

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Religious Education, though probably the smallest department on the campus, is by no means the least important. Courses are offered religious fields ranging from personal Christian ethics to an intricate study of Oriental beliefs and religious philosophies.

Students of religious education do not confine their studies to the classroom however; they take an active part in campus-wide discussions on subjects pertaining to religion and they are constantly on the alert for new ideas eminating from foreign religious issues.

In addition to classroom work and discussion, the students of religious education visit churches of different denominations to try to bring about a better understanding of man's nearness to his fellow man through the Medium of faith.

SECRETARIAL SCIENCE

The Secretarial Science Department has come a long way since 1896 when it was on its threshold. The teaching staff has been increased from one to three, and the subjects offered are shorthand, typing, business organization, advertising, money and banking salesmanship, office procedure, business law and insurance.

The Department trains for stenographic careers in office, the teaching profession and it adds a core of business knowledge and know-how for the designing woman who has her eye on executive positions which stenography opens wide for her in office management, in advertising, insurance and hundred and one other similar positions waiting for her ilk.

Head of Social Science Division

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Dr. Hallie Farmer heads up the Social Science division which has completed its second year of existence. This is the first division of its kind to be set up on the campus and it covers the following subject matter areas: Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, Social Work, and Sociology. Majors may be taken in the fields of History, Economics, Political Science, Sociology. A general major is offered in Social Science also. Minors may be taken in any of these fields and in Geography and Public Administration.

Part of the courses given in the Social Science Division are designed for the training of social workers. The students in social work has a broad background in social science and in addition she learns at the undergraduate level some of the specialized techniques with people in either social case work or social group work. She learns not only through the class room courses but also through visits and observations of agencies and institutions over the state. These experiences provide an opportunity for the student to explore their interests in and capacity for social work as a profession.

In addition one of her courses provides supervised experience with the Shelby County Department of Public Welfare, which is the only social agency in the county. After completing the training at Alabama College the student may enter many areas of the social work field.

Alabama College graduates in social work can be found working with Red Cross, Welfare Departments, Y. W. C. A's., Children institutions, family agencies, and in other state organizations. Many students go on to graduate school of Social Work using their undergraduate social work courses as a firm foundation.

The ELITE . . .

The Elite are those Seniors who are chosen by the students of Alabama College as being most representative and most outstanding in their particular field.

Candidates are nominated by petition from the Senior Class and are voted on Elite Night, after their appearance on the stage, by the student body.

The winners are announced later at a party in Tutwiler fun room in their honor.

Classes . . . yes, four distinct and separate ones, each working for the goals it has set for itself; yet working toward equality, cooperation, and advancement for all four classes.

Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen . . . each a part of the Alabama College family and each feeling no inferiority to the other. The four classes, except for their rank, are all on an equal plane, recognizing no barriers to their common goals; a successful college career, a preparing for service to the world, and the making of a better Alabama College.

The

The Senior reign has been glorious, they have worked hard for four years to obtain the coveted honor which is synonymous with being a Senior. Founder's Day, caps and gowns, Tutwiler, "Mrs. D.", marching, Crook Week, and graduation, all just words to them before, have now become memories.

It seems such a little while ago that they came here, wide-eyed and wondering if they would ever get to be a Sophomore, not even daring to think about being a Senior. But now they have been Seniors, they've collected memories, they've tried to give of their best, and have eagerly awaited the great day: Graduation.

With their diplomas in hand and a mixture of sadness and joy in their hearts they leave more mature than they were four years ago, prepared to contribute their individual shares toward making the world a better place to live.

Ah, for the life of a Junior! A life filled with anxious anticipation for that momentous event—Crook Week. Yes, fact is stranger than fiction, and strange indeed is the fact that during the month of May, members of the Junior class have one track minds with only two rails; the one track being Crook Week and the two rails being: finding the sacred stick and becoming a Senior.

Well, this year's Junior Class is anything but slow; they started the year off with a bang by participating in Orientation and by furnishing talent galore for College Theatre productions and College Night. Came Spring, and in spite of rain and collapsed blue moons, the Junior Prom was a big success, equalled only by the Junior-Senior Banquet, and followed by; Crook Week.

After snatching the symbolic stick from its secret hiding place and undergoing the ordeal of Crook Court, these Gerenuk Lithocraniuses proved their worthiness of becoming leaders and were gowned by their Seniors as the highlight of Crook Court.

Serving as marshals for the graduation exercises wound up a splendid year for the Class Of '52; those who work with them next year can just sit back and watch them be a wonderful Senior class!

Finally the great dream was a reality; the class of '53 came back to A. C. in the fall of '50 repeating over and over to themselves, "I'm not a Freshman any more." Having the second largest class in school, the Sophomore spread themselves through both Ramsay and part of Main. Those Sophomores living in Main did a swell job acting as advisors to the Freshmen whose dorm they shared, and the ones in Ramsay did their part in making campus life pleasant.

The Sophomores will never forget that wonderful Sophomore Weekend that made the rest of the school sit up and be a little envious. What fun they had at the informal dance in jeans in Tut basement with the music, doughnuts, and popcorn, and the Camp House party sitting around in front of the open fire singing. The big event of the weekend was the gorgeous Sophomore Hop with all the Christmas trees and snow. After this weekend they were stary eyed for days remembering what a wonderful weekend.

Wide awake and on their toes, the Sophomores showed the whole campus what a sure enough Hawaiian party was like when they entertained the Seniors late in May. Everything was there from grass skirts, palm trees, fried fish and pineapple. What a grand time everyone had thanks to this wonderful Sophomore Class.

ANNA SALTER

A hot Sunday afternoon in late September, a green carpet of a campus, a sprawling, three winged building which was to be their new home, and dozens of upperclassmen dressed in white were the first things noticed by the Class of '54 when they arrived at A. C. from all over Alabama and several states they came by train, plane, bus, private car, and even by taxi! The rambling aspects of Main Dormitory were taken in hand for the new girls by the hundred or so members of the Orientation Committee.

After the first few hectic weeks of Orientation exams, handbook drills, getting used to college life, this rip-roaring class really got into the swing of things and made this old college sit up and take notice!

College Night drew heavily from this lively talented bunch and all will agree they did a marvelous job. Next on their list of accomplishments was the biggest Freshman Dance we can remember in many a year.

Just before Spring Holidays the Freshmen treated the Seniors to a wonderful time with a weiner roast and party in the dell at the Camp House. After a year of trudging to five hour history classes, the Freshmen realized that Comer Hall had become an old friend and the library had become a second home; but most of all, with final exams behind them they realized that now they had only to wait for the summer to be over and then they would be Sophomores! Keep an eye on this class, folks, they're really going places, fast!

On October 15, 1950 at the annual Elite Night, judges Charlie Preston, Birmingham, Richard Zoellner, University of Alabama, Robert Payne, Alabama College, and William Tidwell, Livingston, had a difficult task of choosing six beauties and nine favorites from forty candidates selected by four classes.

The forty candidates appeared in street clothes for the preliminary judging that afternoon where they each had an informal interview with the judges. That night they walked up a ramp between an arch of drapes, turned on a platform in their evening dresses before descending the spiral ramp to be viewed once more by the judges before the decision.

Activities??? There are so many here at A. C. that it's just a violation of the law of human nature to be idle. Why there are so many things in which to participate that a person could almost major in extra-curricular activities!!

What ever your interest may be, you can be sure to find it at Alabama College. Anything from Student Government legislature, theatrical work, radio broadcasting, journalism, to planning socials for the school and working with the Y. W. C. A.

If you are not interested in any of these you can surely find some interest along your line, whatever it may be, in College Night.

Student Government Officers GREGORY, DECKER and GREEN

BETTY HOUSTON
President of Student Body

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government Association had a very successful year under the leodership of its chief executive. The more important activities of the Student Government over the year included, the successful orientation program, organization of the name band dance, being hostess at the conferences on Status of Women, and sponsored continued sales of school blazers. Delegates were sent from Alabama College to the National Student Association Congress at the University of Michigan and to the S. I. A. S. G. Conference at Stetson University. The first pre-school planning conference was held in September at which time it was decided to send representatives to the various High Schools in the State to talk to senior girls. A record library of 126 volumes, drums and sockets were added to the permanent assets of Alabama College through the distribution of College Night funds. College Night regulations were presented to the Executive Council and changes and rewording was made when thought advisable.

STUDENT COURT

This year the Student Court has emphasized the prevention of difficulties. When it has been necessary for the Court to sit in judgment, however, trials have been conducted in an objective, impersonal manner. The procedure for trials has been modified to conform with that of civil courts.

The Honor Code has been stressed as an integral part of student life at Alabama College and enforcement of Student Government Association regulations under the Honor Code has been the major function of the Court. The tapping system, on an experimental basis this year, has proved very effective.

SENATE

All legislative power of the Student Government Association at Alabama College is rested in the Student Senate. This year the Senate has been busy ratifying legislature such as the Student Government budget, Student Government constitution for summer school, Student Government regulations for the year 1950-51, regulations governing the Senior and Sophomore week-ends as well as regulations governing the scheduling of meetings and the calling of meetings for organizations on the campus. One of the biggest jobs was ratifying the regulations for College Night.

Passing legislation is not the only activity of the Senate for they are responsible for raising the flag, the election of head usher, and the election of the Freshman advisors.

The Senate is composed of six representatives from the Senior class, five from the Junior class, four from the Sophomore class, three from the Freshman class, and one representative from each of the five dormitories. The President, who is a Senior, is elected by the Student Body.

RECREATION ASSOCIATION

LYDA GAY DONALD
President, Recreation Association

The purpose of the Recreation Association is to promote the health and friendship of students, to create a joyous interest in play, to sitmulate and foster the highest type of college spirit and provide recreational activities. This year the Recreation Association has helped with the orientation of Freshmen by directing traffic and seeing that the luggage was carried to the correct rooms. As part of this program Camp House and splash parties were given for the Freshmen. One of the big events on the campus is the all college Sports Day that the Recreation Association sponsor each year in the fall. The entire school is turned out to a day of games and sports. The faculty vs. student softball game is a big attraction and supper is served outdoors to end up this day of acticities. Sports Day help the Freshmen to know the recreational activities available and to meet the teachers and the upper classmen. The Recreation Association also sponsors all campus parties throughout the year. Tournaments are carried on to further sports between individuals and dormitories. There are tournaments for each season of the year such as volley ball, basketball, badminton, soft ball, tennis and swimming.

The Recreation Association appoints hiking leaders to go with groups of girls to the many places near the campus for all day hikes and outdoor recreation.

BETTY, PARKER, Editor

At least every other Friday students are assured of getting something out of those little dark holes in the Post Office, the ALABAMIAN, product of cooperation between editors, reporters, distributors and printers, goes out to students and their families, carrying its comments on what happens at Alabama College.

Under efficient leadership, the staff have carried out their assignments with near professional coverage and consciousness. Departmental news kept us up to date about the activities in our own, and other fields. Student and faculty news let us know who went where and who did what. Straight from the shoulder reporting brough us news in the best newspaper tradition. Exchange excerpts brought us highlights from other campuses. Current event commentaries interpreted action and events on world-wide scale.

The newspaper has led campus discussions about the Honor Code and the cut system. Public opinion was polled extensively and impartially, and the results made known to the students and faculty.

When WRSD broadcasting was extended the enlarged schedule was printed in each schedule. Just before Thanksgiving the ALABAMIAN made its first scoop of the year by announcing the plans for the twelve acre lake and modern faculty camphouse.

This has been a good year for the ALABAMIAN. There have been more pictures, more big editions (remember the College Night issue?) and more spirit. As this year's issues bound within their large leather cover, are stored away for future staffs' information, they will be among the better examples of newspaper operation.

The MONTAGE

The MONTAGE staff through publication of this book have tried to bring to you a glimpse of the activities, pictures of the students, faculty, administrators and organizations for you to look back on and to remember what a good year 1950-51 was at Alabama College.

The large staff worked hard all through the year at each job they had to perform, such as setting up pictures, planning layouts, writing and typing copy and getting advertising. The never tiring photographer took hundreds of pictures and always had a smile to return to the many smiling faces she photographed. The students at Alabama College helped to make this their book by being so cooperative in making appointments and showing up for scheduled pictures. The Publication Board was always on hand to give helpful advice and to see that nothing hampered the staff in their work.

Elite Night was sponsored and produced by the MONTAGE staff and students who volunteered to give their time and energy to make it the success that it was. New changes in Elite Night were experimented with such as having preliminary judging of the beauties in street clothes which made the decisions easier for the judges. This was made into an informal coffee that the Dietetics Club sponsored. For the first time the MONTAGE was dedicated on Elite Night before all the parents, students, faculty and friends that attended.

The Advertising staff did an excellent job in getting more advertising than in years past. Many hours were spent over a type writer sending out letters to firms all over the state and lots of shoes were worn thin walking from store to store. It was decided to use pictures again with the ads since they had been so successful last year.

The TOWER

The Tower, campus literary magazine, first appeared eighteen years ago. It has fostered creative ideas and much hard work, and the issues have included short stories, poems, book reviews, exemplary notes and essays. In 1949 Pi Delta Epilson assumed the sponsorship of Tower and issues have appeared twice a year. In accepting work from Freshman and Sophomore English classes as well as personal submissions, Tower is a representative writing organ of the school. During the year Tower sponsored active sales campaigns; a tea was held when the winter issue of Tower was delivered. A new incentive was added to Tower writing when the English department presented an award to the writer of the best Tower short story.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The Social Committee was on their toes from the beginning of school until the last day. They started the year off by an informal tea for the Freshman and their parents on the first day of school. You could always find them busily at work and being gracious hostesses at the after-dinner coffee hour preceeding each Concert-Lecture and Theater Play.

This year the Social Committee entertained the girls of the Senior Class at Montevallo High School with a formal dinner, after-dinner coffee, and gave them complimentary tickets to the Dallas Symphony Orchestra Concert.

When the Honor Scholarship girls were on the campus the Social Committee entertained them with parties in the dormitories.

The biggest job of the year was the planning of the Big Named Dance. This took many days and night of tiring work but their efforts were not in vain, because the students still talk of the wonderful music of Woody Herman and his orchestra and the fun they had at the dance.

WRSD

The campus station, WRSD, is a full member of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System and has been assigned call letters by the Federal Communication Commission, Washington, D. C. WRSD is staffed and operated exclusively by students. Advanced radio students perform the duties of station manager, program director, chief announcer, promotion director, news editor, traffic manager, and chief engineer. Other students serve as announcers, newscasters, continuity writers, engineers, and other performers.

On the air between six and seven hours per day five days each week, WRSD not only provides the entire campus with a well rounded schedule of radio listing. Five complete world news roundups each day from the wires of the United Press, a daily news commentary, student talent show, faculty and student interviews, "on-the-spot" broadcasts, several hours of classical and popular music, student dramatic shows from the Federal Radio Committee help make WRSD the most listened to station on the Campus.

RALPH SEARS, Head of the Radio Department

Heard over Radio Station WAPI, Birmingham, on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays is the program Alabama Music Time. Featuring interesting stories about composers and musical history, and the recorded music of some of the world's great composers, Alabama Music Time is designed for in-school listening.

Each Sunday a special program of pipe organ music, "Sunday Organ Music" is presented. This program features the Alabama College organist in a recital of music written especially for the pipe organ.

Through the radio classes, the Radio Workshop, and the radio station WRSD students acquire training and experience in radio production, directing, script writing, and performance as well as in certain technical phases of the radio industry.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet: BEAN, McVAY, COLLINS, REESE, HICKSON, HAWKINS, NETTLES, THOMPSON, LIGHTSEY, ISREAL, CLEVELAND, GREGORY, WILLIAMSON, HARRISON, BONDS, EVANS, FALLS

The Y. W. C. A.

The purpose of the Y.W.C.A. is that of realizing a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God and making this life possible for all people. Out of religious ideas and ideals the "Y" strives to make our society one where all men have freedom to join in the common quest for a deepened spiritual life

The Y.W.C.A. cabinet is the planning body of the "Y" activities. The cabinet organized such events as vesper services, evening watch, the WSSF drive, the Sis-Major—Sis-Minor party and numerous other activities.

There are four commissions through which the Y.W.C.A. sponsors its program—World Relatedness, Social Responsibility, Campus and personal Affairs, and Christian Faith and Heritage.

The purpose of the World Relatedness Commission is to support the United Nations and related bodies; to increase understanding among the people and the nations of the world through fellowship and cooperation with students of other lands; to increase the awareness of the unity of Christians everywhere through the Y.W.C.A. and other such organizations. The World Relatedness Commission takes a special interest in the foreign students on our campus. They sponsored a foreign students party at the first of the year to better acquaint the students with one another.

The Social Responsibility Commission studies current problems and seeks to see and understand them in a Christian light. This commission sponsors field trips. One made this year was a weekend trip to Talladega College. Another project which the commission undertook was a newsletter concerning national legislation to be sent to any interested student organization in Alabama. They also helped furnish books for a library in a Negro High School near Montevallo.

The Campus and Personal Affairs group had several discussions on mental hygiene at the beginning of the year. They made extensive use of movies for their programs. The commission studied problems that the members of the commission telt a need for.

The Christian Faith and Heritage Commission studied and discussed the place and importance of faith in the world today. They studied the origins of our Christian Religion and the history of it up until the present time. These discussions were led by outstanding campus leaders, faculty members and visiting speakers.

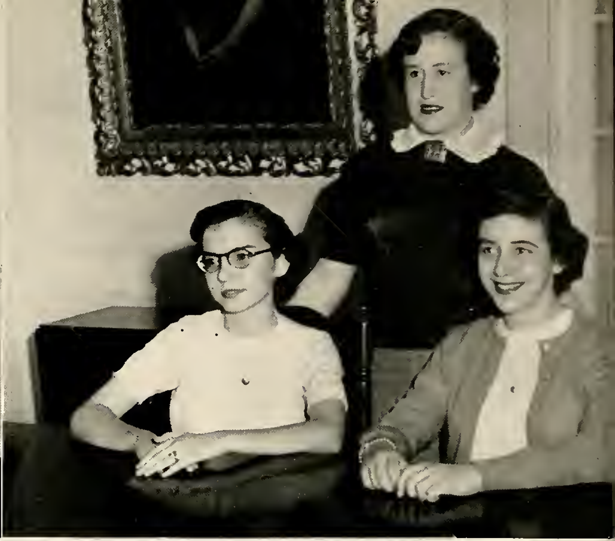
The Y.W.C.A. has a special room in Reynolds, a place where students may go to study, think or pray or just to be alone for awhile. The "Y" room contains a library of devotional material including issues of current religious magazines.

HARRIETTE HAWKINS, President of the Y.W.C.A.

Another activity of the Y.W.C.A. is the part it plays in Religious Emphasis Week. Under the direction of the "Y" a steering committee was chosen to plan Religious Emphasis Week. Mr. Chestor Swor was speaker this year and gave the students much aid in their personal problems through conferences and informal discussions.

An informal discussion with Mr. Swor

The Steering Committee for Religious Emphasis Week: COLLINS, WELLS, GREGORY, HAWKINS, GOULD, DECKER, LEE, SCHRIENER, BAUMGARTNER, SALTER



Newman Club Officers: KAY BURGER, JOSEFINA CASTRO, ISABEL CASTRO

Pi Tau Chi Officers: HARRIETTE HAWKKINS, JEAN McVAY, ANNIE LAURA FALLS, and DOT WELLS

Serving as the center for religious activities of Catholic students on the Alabama College campus is the Newman Club, National Collegiate Organization for Catholic students. Unique among the features of the Newman Club this year were a series of informal discussion-talks presented by Father Foster on the subject of "Christian Marriage." In addition to their regular Sunday morning mass, the Newman Club had something special for the Easter Service: the Benedictine Sisters were brought to the campus and presented the Gregorian Chant.

Pi Tau Chi, the National Honorary Religious Fraternity, has, as its aims, the recognition and further development of devout and sincere religious interest and activity. Though sponsored by the Methodist and students on our campus, Pi Tau Chi is an interdenominational society, and its members are chosen from those students outstanding in religious service.

RELIGIOUS

Active in promoting the interest of Presbyterian students is the Westminster Fellowship, which, for the first time in its history sponsored the Christmas Pageant at the local church. Besides being active in other phases of campus life, the Westminster Fellowship had their regular Sunday Night suppers at Westminster House, sponsored the annual Silver Tea, and annual Senior party.

The largest of all the student religious organizations is that of the Baptist students. Active in all phases of campus life, the Baptist Student Union sponsored the very impressive and well attended Thanksgiving Vespers and several other services through the year. Parties and revivals, as well as dorm devotionals were all a part of the years's activities for the B.S.U.

Serving as the hub around which the wheel of campus religious activities revolves, the Religious Council has really put a nice, long feather in its cap this year. In addition to integrating and coordinating all denominational activities, the Religious Council works in cooperation with the Y.W.C.A. in sponsoring the W.S.S.F. Drive each year, and is also the steering committee for Religious Emphasis Week.

Perhaps one of the smallest, but none the less active of the denominational groups is the Canterbury Club. Meeting semi-monthly, the campus organization is affiliated with the National Association of Canterbury Clubs and extends membership to all Episcopal students.

Religious Council Officers: JUNE SEGLER, TERESSA COLLINS AND VIRGINIA BROOKS

Methadist students had, as the center of their religious activities for the year, the National Collegiate Organization, Wesley Foundation. In addition to their very successful Freshman party, these students organized a Wesley Chair, sent out several deputations teams to mental institutions, Veteran's Hospitals, and other colleges through out the state. Prize accomplishments of the year for Wesley Foundationers are their newly acquired Wesley Room and a very well-attended Youth Revival, both of which helped to make this a good year for Wesley Foundation.

Alabama College Glee Club

MUSIC ON

Our Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. H. D. LeBoron, is one of the most outstanding in the state. Every year Glee Club practice starts in late September and continues through May; not in vain do the girls practice either. Every year the Glee Club goes on tour of Alabama, Mississippi, and Florida and presents a well-received program in addition to the concert here on the campus.

One of our musical highlights is Mr. Ziolkowski's annual recital; having studied under Paderewski, Mr. "Z" sets an example for all aspiring pianists.

THE CAMPUS

Miss Claire Ordway, violinist, is also director of the college orchestra. Through faithful daily practice, the orchestra soon works up a lively program for its annual concert; novelty tunes like "Sleighride" are a favorite with the orchestra and really show off the talent to its best advantage.

Convocation would be incomplete without Mr. Putnam Porter who puts the Palmer console to magnificent use as he renders preludes, postuludes, processionals, and recessionals as well as special music for special occasions.

MISS CLARA ORDWAY, Violinist

MR. PUTNAM PORTER, Organist

The College Theatre under the direction of Dr. Trumbauer, who is President of the Theatre Council, offers a wide variety of opportunities for any student who wishes to participate in some phase of production. This work is open to all students, and those students who show exceptional interest and achievement are honored with membership to the Theatre Council, which is the policy making body of the College Theatre. A few members of the Council, because of the wide range of their activities and the high quality of their work attain membership in the national fraternity, National Collegiate Players. The aims of the Theatre Council are to elevate and develop dramatic programs as a whole, and to further the true appreciation of theatre production of plays—play selection, housing, box office, staging, art, lighting, make-up, costuming, and properties.

COLLEGE

College Night is the most important student activity ever to take place at Alabama College. A time when all the students, divided into two sides, the Purple and the Golds, work to give the best two all student productions that they are capable of producing. First comes the election of leaders for the sides. The race is hot and heavy, and then the news; Gold Leaders, Cora Curtis and Dot Baumgartner; Purple Leaders, Betty McDonald and Ruth Brandenburg. These are the people that organize the work of the respective sides, and all eyes are turned toward them to see whom they will choose to be on their cabinets. The best qualified people for the different jobs, such as writers, artists, staging, lighting, properties, business managers, musicians, directors are chosen for these positions.

NITE

Behind closed doors the President of the Student Body and the Leaders select the best people for the jobs ahead. Excitement runs high as word gets around who made the most important positions on the campus for the coming month. After the cabinets are selected then the student body chooses the side they would like to work with and the real work begins. The cheerleaders are elected early in the month and pep meetings are held each night to keep the spirit of College Night up during the entire month of February.

The Leaders, Cheerleaders and Cabinet are presented at the Gold-Purple party which is always held in the gym on Saturday night before College Night. The side that has the most people attend win the party. This year the Golds won the Gold-Purple Party.

For days on end the writers wark behind closed daors. The greatest secrecy prevails as ideas are thrashed over and over. After the script is finolly completed, then the real wark starts in earnest. The praductions are cast, the staging, lighting, and castuming crews get busy to carry aut the well loid plans. The work and worry of building, ond sewing is the biggest jabs of all. Callege Night above all else takes teamwork for half a student bady is working tagether to praduce a winner. COLLEGE

Finally comes Wednesday Night and the well kept secrets are out for this is the time of the dress rehearsal for College Night. For the first time the sides, see what the other has been doing for the past month.

The Golds let go with their production, A MATTER FOR CONSIDERATION, which was a story of two scrub women who worked in a museum and hated to always feel that they were pushed around. The weeks of preparation, practicing and hard work are fruitful at last, for the laughter of the audience makes you feel that you have succeeded in accomplishing what you set out to do.

Both productions brought out that each side had used its talent to the best of their knewledge and on a near professional basis. The beautiful music used in each production was sung and hummed many days after College Night was over.

College Night is also Homecoming for Alabama College and on Friday and Saturday the Alumnae come pouring back to the campus to relive some of their past days. There are meetings, luncheons, teas and general bull sessions to get caught up on your old class mates. The College Night performance climaxes the weekend and alumnae still root for the side that they work so loyally for in their college days. All during the month of preparation, the Alumnae has been with us in spirit, as they send back encouraging letters, and cake and boxes that mean, "Wish we were there once more."

Alabama College can always be proud of College Night, for every student always gives her best for her side. It may be with actual work, or it may be coming out to pep meetings and yelling your lungs and heart out for the side you love.

Saturday and after six straight years of trying the GOLDS came through with a magnificant GOLDEN VICTORY! But even before that, when the decision was brought down the isle, and that squeezing feeling crept into their stomachs each student knew that it didn't matter which way the verdict went, for each individual had given her all for one of the Best College Nights that has ever been put on at Alabama College.

Anything from softball and swimming to horseshoes and tiddly-winks — you name it, A. C.'s got it. In cooperation with the Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, the Student Recreation Association sponsors a year-round athletic program.

Spring, fall and summer finds the athletic field dotted with the active figures of sportswomen taking part in their favorite activity, and in the winter, the gymnasium's different rooms are buzzing with as many different activities as there are rooms.

Hiking, camping, fishing, bicycle riding, and just enjoying nature are part of the off-campus recreations in which we indulge. But be it on campus or off, there are plenty of things to do and such a variety that it's just not possible to find yourself being bored because there's "nothing to do."

Flounoy and Cleveland calling a volley ball game

P. E. Class enjoy a game of volley ball

Volley Ball is one of Alabama College's most popular group-participation activities. The first intramural sports tournament held each year is the inter-dormitory volley ball tournament in which teams from each of the four dorms vie for winning honors and the handsome trophy which is awarded the winner of the tournament. This year the Seniors came through with flying colors and skillful movements to defeat the fighting Juniors for campus volley ball honors. As long as there's playtime for A. C. girls there'll be a bustle of activity down on the volley ball courts.

Tutwiler Seniors win the volley ball championship: MOTES, PETERSON, CASTRO, SMITH, COLLINS, DONALD, WATSON, MAYES, SLACK, COX, GAMBLE and STILLMAN.

The battle between Hanson and Tutwiler for the championship

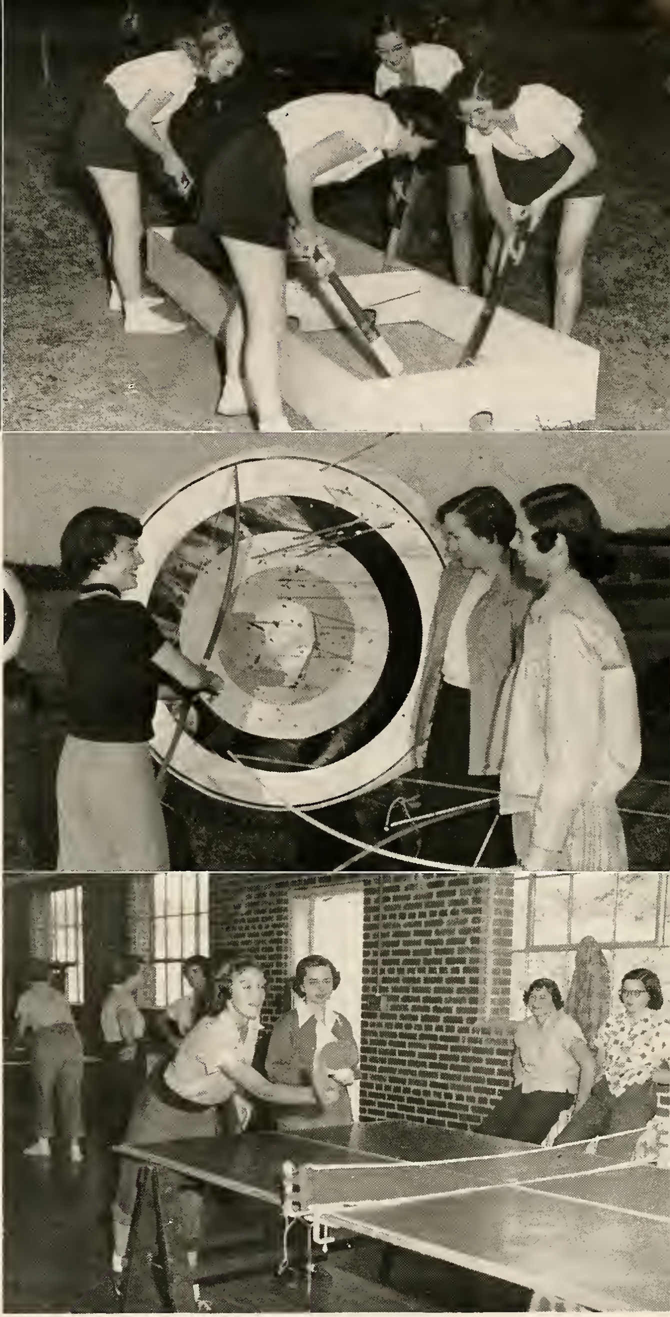
Practice makes perfect for badminton

Recreational Sports, another big favorite with the athletics enthusiasts, includes all kinds of . . . recreational sports, naturally! Badminton racquets and birdies are kept busy by energetic girls who go all out to perfect their skill in this game which was handed down to us by our English ancestors.

Box Hockey, no less popular than its big brother, field Hockey, requires more temper control than almost any other game in the field of recreational sports . . . if you don't believe it, just struggle for ages to knock the ball through the little hole, and have your shot blocked by an opponent!

Ping Pong, or table tennis, which ever you prefer, is a great favorite wherever young people are found. It can be enjoyed by both the skilled and novice player and is fascinating to the spectator as well.

Robin Hood's Merry Men of Sherwood Forest may have been more accurate with their arrows, but were certainly no more enthusiastic over the versatility of the bow and arrow than Alabama College's feminine archers. Nothing gives them a bigger thrill than the strong twang of a tightly pulled bow-string catapulting a swift arrow to its mark.



Box Hockey tests your skill against the other fellow . . . Ping Pong a recreational sport that everyone likes to play . . . Archery an outdoor sport that takes skill and accuracy.

Many a bruise arm results from bow-strings being pulled incorrectly, but just the same, our girls are out to get a bull's eye . . . whether it will be the one on the target or on the bull in the pasture across the field, nobody knows.

Golf has long been a popular sport with both men and women and the very name "golf" provides the humorist with unlimited ideas for jokes and cartoons. A woman player is often defined as an animate substance moving about on the fairway with the speed of a glacier . . . . well, we think golf is fun and we enjoy trying our skill anyway.

Sprained ankles, skinned knees, and bruised shins are all welcome signs at A. C. that softball season is on its way. The softball tournament each spring always calls out the best players from each dormitory and a royal battle is fought for the penant to be flown from the top of the Field House.

Learning to build fires outdoors is part of the camping course offered

Off to a weekend at the camphouse

A course in camping is a vital part of an A. C. girl's physical training. In this course the girls learn everything from how to make a blanket roll to how to make a stove out of a tin can! And what's more, the Camp House is an excellent place to go in search of practical experience.

"Get in a Swim!" is the cry ringing from all corners of the campus right after spring holidays each year. Just as soon as the weather is warm enough to melt the icebergs in the pool, life-guards don their suits, open the pool, and enjoy, with their classmates, one of the most healthful and enjoyable of all sports. Instruction is offered in all phases of swimming from beginning swimming to life saving. Strong muscles, trim figures, and smooth, deep suntans are the rewards for faithful hours spent in the pool.

Instructors observe beginning swimmers

Diving is one of the essentials before completing a swimming course

Trying for a ringer

Pitching horseshoes is usually thought of as either a child's game or a game for bay-windowed old men . . . . the picture at left will serve as proof that that idea is as outmoded as the bustle. Especially adaptable to out of doors camping areas, horseshoes develops skill and accuracy of aim, but not without long, hard practice. Then the reward will greet the player's ears as a firm "Clank" with the horseshoe hugging closely to the metal spike which is always so elusive.

Again soft ball and badminton come into the limelight. Nothing like a hard hit ball which makes for a homerun, or as well-placed birdie to score a point to make a team happy. Folks used to tell their children to just sprinkle salt on a bird's tail and they could catch it . . . . well, there's no chance to sprinkle any salt on these A. C. birdies . . . they shuttle back and forth too rapidly!

"Take me out to the ball game," what do you mean . . . take you out? If you don't strike out you ought to be shot; who do you think you are that you can't muff a chance like the rest of us? Ah well, try as we may, we sometimes play like a poor man's bat boy, then at other times we give out with some near-professional ball.

You see the birdie sailing straight at you; draw back your racquet and swing with all your might for a beautiful smash . . . then as you look down you see the birdie glide gracefully to the floor right behind you! Don't let that bother you though, just wait till you try to serve!

Physical Education majors try their skill at valley ball

Specialists in all phases of sports and physical education, our "P.E." majors work hard to perfect their prowess on the volley ball court. Not only must they be able to play well, but they must be able to call or coach a game with speed and accuracy. Observant eyes and quick minds as well as faultless familiarity with the rules all go into the making of a good physical education major.

Flying angels are plentiful on our campus . . . no, not the celestial variety, but those loose-jointed girls who take tumbling are very capable of making a pyramid, a flying angel, or any one of the dozens of complicated figures they learn in tumbling classes. Split-second timing, precision, and strength of muscle work together and are essential to a successful tumbling program.

Instead of counting sheep to go to sleep at night, we count girls doing forward and backward rolls. We groan meaningfully as we think about the third time our partner lost her balance and landed right in the middle of our stomach. Then there are other times when we loving nurse aching muscles and use gallons of Absorbine Jr., to take out the soreness, but the great reward comes when visitors from other colleges comment on the smoothness of our tumblers in action.

Tumbling takes exact timing and accuracy

The Modern Dance Club, Orchesis, spend many hours of practice to work up dances with exact precision and cooradination

Increasingly popular is the field of modern dance. Though it is one of our newer arts, it is one of the most beautiful and satisfying forms of expression. Strenuous, and requiring tremendous practice and coordination, modern dance works toward the goal that a beautiful personality may be expressed in the language of movement. Both creative and interpretative dance are carried out at Alabama College through modern dance classes and through the Orchesis organization.

Folk dance done in native costumes

Square dancing has taken the campus by storm, and at almost any hour of the day or night somewhere on the campus you'll find shuffling feet, clapping hands, and swaying bodies moving happily to calls of "Swing your partner!" and "promenade."

In addition to learning the folk dance of our country, which is square dancing, of course, we learn the native dances of many other countries of the world. Exhibitions of these dances are presented each year in the court in front of Tutwiler; after a class learns to execute the dances well, they dress in native costume of the countries they represent, and carry out their dances in an outdoor program which everyone always enjoys.

honoraries

Selected members from all fields compose those girls who are tapped from an honorary fraternity. To be in these fraternities is one of the highest honors that a girl can receive. She must be well qualified in her scholastic work as well as outside activities.

The honorary fraternities play a big part on the campus in that they take charge of many of the activities that go on at Alabama College. Oftentimes they are in charge of convocations, art exhibits and debates, as well as sending members to various conferences all over the United States.

The serious initiation with its pledge of allegience, the key you wear and all you do for your fraternity are the things that you will always remember and be proud of.

dubious honors

We work, we play, we go to classes, we partee. There are dates and dances, athletic activities, College Night and Crook Week activities, and of course there are those "off-guard" minutes when there's some sneak with a camera around!!! Who knows what basis for blackmail might lurk in the pages to follow? All we can tell you is that nothing could be more truly representative than these snapshots of our students, faculty, and staff. C'mon, let's look . . . .

You Can't Lasso a Man With

ROYAL CUP COFFEE

—but once you get him you can make him smack his lips and say, "Darling, you're the best little cook in the world" if you use

ROYAL CUP COFFEE

The Way to a Man's Heart
Through the Coffee Pot!

Provided of course, the coffee is zippy, zestful and sparkling. And ROYAL CUP COFFEE is nothing else but! It's the kind you've been drinking in the college dining rooms for years.
